Upcoming Data Deadlines and Reminders

January 23rd is the deadline for entering data for the 2022 P4P incentive program and 2022 case volumes.

Here are a few tips to help you as you work towards this deadline:

Clinical & Physics:

- Data checker errors need to be cleared for all databases (P4P Metrics C & D)

Physics Only:

- Please clear the Physics Required Questions report (located in the Breast & Lung database)
- Please complete the Institutional Physics Assessment Form (IPAF) for your site (located in the Breast & Lung database)

Want to make sure you are on track for meeting data deadlines in 2023?

to improve cancer care is both aspirational and daunting. The structure of the collaborative quality initiatives (of which MROQC is just one of 23 programs across the state) breaks down the barriers to collaboration to ensure we are working together to create the optimal treatment experience for our patients.

MROQC has partnered with MOQC and hospice leaders to create a Treatment Pathway: Palliative Radiation for Oncology Patients on Hospice, which was recently highlighted in the BCBSM Value Partnerships Update.

MROQC at ASTRO 2022

MROQC CQI @MROQC1 · Oct 23

Mean heart & mean lung doses observed in @MROQC1 are slightly lower (MHD 10.3 Gy, MLD 11.2 Gy) compared to Lung ART (MHD 13 Gy, MLD 13 Gy), possibly owing to increased use of IMRT. These data support application of Lung ART's findings outside of the clinical trial setting. #ASTRO22

Id pulmonary dosimetric parameters in lung cancer patients undergoing operative radiation therapy across a state-wide consortium

RESULTS

Parameter	MROQC1	Lung ART
Mean Heart Dose (MHD)	10.3 Gy	13 Gy
Mean Lung Dose (MLD)	11.2 Gy	13 Gy

CONCLUSIONS

Heart and lung dosimetric parameters in this data set comparison are slightly lower than those reported in Lung ART, possibly due to increased IMRT utilization and an emphasis on smaller field settings as a quality improvement initiative within MROQC1. These dosimetric findings support the application of Lung ART's findings outside of the clinical trial setting.
